

The interview that took 26 years to happen finally occurred on December 9, 2016 at Morse School. Two-time NY times #1 best-selling author and 3-time WWE World Champion, Mick Foley shared his experiences and insights in a live interview on JPI TV's INSIDE Just Print It.

"Everything in life I have learned... from my 31 years in wrestling," said Foley. "It would be impossible for me to list them all. I would put the education I received on the road up against any of the education anyone has received at an Ivy League college or other institution of higher learning."

In professional wrestling Mick was known as Mankind, Cactus Jack, Dude Love, and Mick Foley. He wrestled around the world and made his fame by doing insane things. It was common for Mick to wrestle in rings wrapped in barbed wire. In one match in Japan, he wrestled Terry Funk with barbed wire instead of ropes, sheets of plywood wrapped in barbed wire and explosives. "Real barbed wire for those counting at home," remarked the Hardcore Legend. And the ring was also rigged with explosives. At the ten minute mark of the match the ring exploded and the match continued with Foley and Funk left in bloody tatters.

In another memorable match from Germany, he had his ear ripped off as he had his head tangled in the ropes. He is missing his ear to this day.

His most famous match, and probably the most famous wrestling match in history, he was thrown off a 16 foot cell/cage onto a table where he separated his shoulder. Then he managed to climb back up and then got choke slammed by the Undertaker and broke through the top of the caged cell and fell to the ring landing flat on his back. He was unconscious and his tooth ripped through his top lip, up through his nose.

Another of his signature moves was to be slammed on top of thousands of thumbtacks unfortunately intended for his opponents.

Already known as "Mr. Saugerties", Bob Siracusano, owner of Sawyer Motors, can also be known as "Mr.

Christmas." Recently, he and his team of employees and volunteers put on the fifth annual Holiday in the Village in the village of Saugerties.

Siracusano recently visited Morse school for a JPI TV interview on the show INSIDE Just Print It. He described the reasons for bringing Holiday in the Village to Saugerties, also known as Christmas in the Village. "When I see the joy in the faces of the kids, it makes it all worthwhile," he said. "When that young boy, 5 or 6 years old, said he never won anything until he came to Christmas in the Village," Bob said it was outstanding. "Moments like that really impact me."

Each year, he is able to give away thousands of dollars in gifts and toys to children and this year topped them all. Over $18,000 worth of toys and gifts were given away this year. "We get checks. Also friends and business like Sawyer Savings bank helps us with the money. Children line up with hopes to win bikes, computers, dolls, TV's, tablets, gaming devices, gloves, sporting goods and many other items.

"We live in such a community and you great kids go to great schools. Everybody loves what we do," he said. He's been doing Christmas in the village for 5 years and they raffled off over 700 bikes. This year they gave away over 130 bikes, alone.

Foley took more abuse to his body than any other wrestler in the history of the sport. In one match against the Rock, Mick got hit 13 times in the head by a metal folding chair. These actions have caused numerous concussions which Foley has recognized and become an outspoken advocate for reducing head injuries in sports and entertainment.

Mankind, AKA Mick Foley, winning the WWE Championship belt over Dwayne, The Rock, Johnson.

It is the same Rock, who Foley, wrestling as Mankind at the time, won his first World Championship. That is when WWE took off. That night, on another channel showing another wrestling show, 600,000 viewers changed channels to watch Mankind defeat the Rock! The WWE now took control of the wrestling world. "Winning the world championship against the Rock was an incredible experience." Mick continued "Every year, as the Rock gets bigger it makes me look better. Now I can say I beat the world's sexiest man for the championship belt."

Mick Foley's favorite holiday is Christmas, everyone knows that. He celebrates Christmas all year round and makes it a big part of his life. "I like to think everyone is a little bit nicer." He even has space in his house dedicated to Christmas. "We have an entire floor dictated to Christmas." He still believes in Santa and so does everyone in the family. "He is real in the Foley house." His philosophy is simple. "If you stop believing in Santa, that is when you start getting socks and underwear for Christmas." It seems it would be in one's best interest to continue to believe. "I still believe in Santa and I am in 51 years old," he said. He is also featured in a Movie entitled "I am Santa Claus." This movie can be accessed on Netflix.

St. Mick and three of his four children. L to R: Noelle, Mickey, Santa and Huey.

A well-known and famous writer of his own right, Mick offers advice to people who want to write. "Follow your passion. Time after time great books have been rejected time and time again. So just follow your dreams." He also offers advice to those who want to become a pro wrestler. "If you want to become a pro wrestler I would stay away from that dream, but if you insist, you should go get proper training so you don't get hurt. There are a number of reputable schools."

You may know him from the Undertaker, you might know him from the Rock, but now you know him from Just Print It. We are always willing to wait for the best story.

the car show, Hudson Valley Garlic Festival and a lot more," he continued. Christmas in the village started slow and they only handed out 25-30 things, but it has grown to something huge. "We go to different places. Walmart gives us a grant to purchase more." Bob and his team of volunteers check for sales and is not taxed because of his Sawyer Automotive Charitable Foundation. He usually gets most of the great gifts from Walmart and he always looks for sale.

The money to purchase these gifts not only comes from Sawyer Motors and grants. "We have people that come in and say the love what we are doing and will give us a $200 check and tell us to buy toys for the kids."

This year Mr. Siracusano said the village got the Christmas tree from a homeowner in Barclay Heights.

Rarely at a loss for words, Bob struggled to keep his wits while being investigated by JPI reporters Jenna and Ashley.

This year, there were about 2000-3000 people at the event including about 800 kids. Ray Tucker, and Bob's daughter his daughter Macy and his staff help him with this event.

Thank you Bob for making this such a great day for our town.

Traditions

By Jenna Wormell

Ashly Pitt

What is your Christmas family tradition?

Ashly Pitt is a sixth grader in Mrs. Brott's class. Christmas time is her favorite time of year. She and her family celebrate Christmas by putting their tree up on December 3. They always get a real tree.

She attends Christmas in the Village, with hopes of winning a gift. They spend the day in the village window shopping and having lunch. She does not travel for the holidays. On Christmas morning she opens presents as is her tradition.

Madison Appollonia is a third grader. Her family also celebrates Christmas, they put their Christmas tree up after Thanksgiving. Madison's family does not go to Christmas in the Village. She does not travel for

Aero Ferrendino's Thanksgiving

By Chase Letus

Aero Ferrendino is a fifth grader at G.D.M. Aero's favorite part about Thanksgiving is the stuffing and being with his friends and family. He loves them both. Aero like hanging out with friends and family on Thanksgiving. Aero loves Thanksgiving but he hates all the loudness. "It's is too loud!"

Aero's friends and family come to him because they are too faraway for him to get to them. The thing Aero likes most about Thanksgiving is the stuffing. "It tasted like a million different flavors," he said.

Aero celebrated Thanksgiving at his house he can't go to other people's house because they are too far away. The sports he likes are football and baseball. "I like them because they have running in them." He likes to eat and have fun with the holidays, but she does have family over for some fun Christmas festivities and dinner.

Christmas time is a time I enjoy spending with my family. Hope you all have a very Merry Christmas and a happy, healthy New Year.

Bring VET to School Day

By Jack Hinkley-Orsulich

Grant D. Morse school is looking to start a program called Bring a Vet to School Day. The student council will be deciding whether or not to start the program next year.

The student council president Nick Stinemire, thinks it would be a good idea. "Yes, I do support the program," he said. He also said that he will encourage the student council to do the same. "I would probably get the other officers to support it, as well," he added.

Bring a Vet to School Day is a program developed by the History Channel in 2007. It provides a way for students to learn about their experiences while helping young people.

At a December meeting of the Student Council, representatives had been informed of this program. Representatives at the meeting thought it was a good idea. They also added ideas of their own. One of the suggestions was to have veterans come on additional occasional days. Also one of their ideas was to have ranking decide what class the veterans will go to.

A final decision on this program is expected in early 2017.

Winter Concert

By Liliana Richards

The Winter Concert was a big day for the fifth and sixth grade. Students have been practicing since September to prepare for the concert. It took place on December 6 in the Morse cafeteria. Mrs. Freer, an RTI assistant said "It was a spectacular concert! There were unique instruments in the band this year. I loved hearing the music and all of the beautiful voices."

Some of her students were there showing hard work and it was an impressive event. "Although I enjoy the concert every year there were many new twists that made the performance stand out!" The songs that we played in band are "Jewish Medley", "Frosty the Snowman", "Silent Night", and "Air Force."

Mr.Spirig is in charge of the band.

The songs we played in chorus are "I love the Snow", "Jingle Jive", "Thankful" and "Winter Walk." Mrs. McMann is in charge of the chorus.

Both Bob Siracusano and Mick Foley have many things in common.

Of course they are generous, kind and extremely compassionate as evidenced by their works with the less fortunate. They both have donated untold hundreds of thousands of dollars to worthwhile causes. For sure, they both have achieved elite levels in their professions.

But very few people know they both adore Christmas-time. It provides the opportunity for them to bring the world back to a time of hope and innocence. They believe in the magic and power of the Christmas spirit, not only through the giving of gifts, but more importantly, the complete emptying of self for the betterment of all around them.

Thank you Mick and Bob, for making this world just a little bit better each and every day!

Aero did not travel for Thanksgiving. "Family traveled to my house," he said. "I was excited because I got to spend time with my family and my poppy." Aero did not prepare the meal, instead he went out to play outside with his family members.

Aero ate turkey, stuffing, cranberry sauce, potatoes, and corn. "Christmas is the start of family traditions for our family."

Shane Rogers: United States Veteran

By Ty Rogers

Shane Rogers, my uncle, served in the United States Navy from 2006-2010. He is my dad's younger brother.

Shane went to Mount Marion elementary school. He moved to Vermont when he was in high school. "I joined the military to serve my country and also because it was recommended by my favorite priest! I joined the navy in particular because I wanted to see the world and that I did," he said.

"Veteran's Day is important to me in particular because not all veterans have been treated kindly after war. For example Vietnam. There is a certain level of sacrifice that should not go unappreciated."

He added, "It is important to remember our veterans because without them, our nation would belong to someone else." Shane believes serving in the military is an honorable duty for citizens to preserve our way of life.

Shane feels young people should consider serving after they get out of high school or college. "I would definitely entertain the thought of coming to an elementary school to promote my role in the military. I got to fix fighter jets."

Thank you Shane and all veterans who served to keep our country free.

I Survived the Tank Attack
By Isaac Taylor and Amitai Lewis

Chapter 1. In 1942 it was a lovely New York day. There were two kids named Paul and Max. They were twins. One day they were in the fields playing ball. They saw a green vehicle coming towards them. They did not know what it was. When it got closer they saw it was a tank. Then they screamed and ran. It took 30 minutes to get back to their house.

But when they got the house was already raided by troops from the army were captured prisoners. But Max jumped out the window. Max was free but Paul was not free. Max had an idea. Max would pretend to be on the other side and free Paul. So Max went to the army base to get Paul out of prison.

When Max got in he needed a uniform. Max knocked out a guard and took his uniform and put it on. Max was ready to free Paul. It was very hard to get in the jail. Max needed to knock out another guard because he needed to get the key to the jail. First Max went to the control room to see where Paul was, Paul was in cell 304. Max needed a mask so he knocked out a guard to get a mask, tazer, pistol and a sniper.

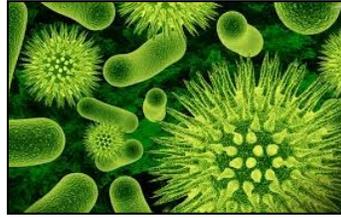

Max tazed all of the guards to get Paul. In cell 304, it was not Paul. In cell 304 was the school bully Timmy Tyler. Then Max said "What are you doing here?" Tyler said, "I got caught too." Paul was in cell 305 so Max unlocked both cells. Now Paul was free. So Paul and Max went home. But Max and Paul could not go home their home was raided by tanks and troops. The tanks were still firing.

Chapter two. So Max and Paul took the sniper and ran to the a giant rock and Paul went to sleep and Max shot all of the troops near the house. In the morning they went home. But found it half exploded. It took a month to rebuild their house but it was worth it. After they were do rebuilding their home they still had to fight the people in the two tanks so they grabbed two rocket launchers and aimed them at the two tanks.

Chapter three. They yelled at the people in the tanks to come out or we will fire. When they came out tanks were Max's and Paul's evil teenager brothers Dynamite and Bomb shell. Max and Paul did not know they had brothers; they thought they were the only children. Dynamite and Bombshell surrendered very easy because they did not want to get shot by a 1,500 powered rocket launcher. From then on life was good for Max and Paul. They lived to a rip old age. Dynamite and Bomb shell were immediately executed. The tank blew them up with snake venom. And Max and Paul became explorers around the world.

Our Body Catches Diseases

By Leo Daggett, Travis Lindzey
and Hannah Loebbaka

Did you know everyone has little soldiers called antibodies? They fight off diseases. Eating healthful foods will help your immune system fight infections. Some bacteria are found in contaminated water. Always be sure that meats and eggs are completely cooked because heat kills bacteria and viruses. Millions of people get sick in the US for eating contaminated food. Skin is the largest organ. A cold is an infectious disease that causes chills, fevers and tiredness. You should cover your mouth when you cough because coughs and sneezes can send pathogens through the air from one person to another. Different types of blood cells work together to fight pathogens. This is how your body knows how to stay healthy.

America's New President

Our 45th president is going to be Donald Trump when the election is over. A lot of people are mad over Donald Trump winning. Jenna Welch is sad that Donald Trump won.

She said that she feels bad that Donald Trump is going to build a wall. I also interviewed Liliana Richards. I asked her how she feels about Donald Trump. She said she kind of likes him. She said she is sad that Hillary Clinton did not win.

new books.

Jenna bought the Twin Tuition book. Gillian purchased Most Wanted Deserts. They both sound good. Jenna only got one book and it is about two girls Tia Morwry-Hand and Tamera Mowry-Hand. Jenna likes her book because it has 16 chapters and it will take a while to read. Gillian said that her book teaches you how to make new deserts. Gillian said that she would miss the book fair when she went to Junior High, and she would probably buy her books at Barnes and Noble.

Jenna said that she was very interested in the book fair but most of the books were the same as last year. Gillian said it was fun and interesting for her. Jenna thought the books at the book fair were good for all ages and she said that it helps them become better readers. Gillian thought that the books at the book fair were for either high or low reading levels. There wasn't much for the average level readers. The book fair is one of the many fundraisers that the PTA does for our school. It's a good way to get kids interested in reading.

Grant D. Morse held its bi-annual book fair recently and, as usual it was a hit. Jenna Welch and Gillian Mills are both sixth graders who enjoyed the book fair. Jenna thought the book fair was good but basically the same as last year. Gillian thought the book fair was interesting because there were more

Our Best Fourth Grade Teacher

Mrs Dudzic was very excited when she got the job here. She was 27 years old. She has two kids, a boy and a girl. The boy is 18 and the girl is 14 years old. She likes reading and arts and crafts. She has no pets, sadly. That is the best fourth grade teacher ever.

Christmas time

By Amy Croce, Aaliyah Cook, Owen Hopf, Hannah Loebbaka and Mackenna Tubby

We got information on two kids in Mrs. Dudzic's class named Aaliyah Cook and Owen Hopf about Christmas.

Owen's favorite part of Christmas is getting presents and going to his grandma's house. Aaliyah's favorite part about Christmas is getting presents too.

Owen wants Harry Potter movies and a action figure. Aaliyah wants a science kit. Owen leaves ginger bread cookies and reindeer cookies for Santa and his reindeer. Aaliyah leaves ginger bread cookies, cake, and mike. That is what two kids in our class think about Christmas!

Our Sweet Nurse

By Amy Croce, Mackenna Tubby and MacKenzie Brott

Nurse Sherri has been a school nurse for ten years. She has studied at Ulster County Community College to become a school nurse 22 years ago. She was very happy and excited when she got the job here. Her son went her when he was a kid so she knows it is a good place. She loves getting to know the kids here at Grant D. Morse. For fun, she enjoys spending time with family and knitting. For vacation she enjoys going to Disney. That is our sweet school nurse.

Class Pets

By Amy Croce and Mackenna Tubby

We think every class should have a class pet. For example, Mrs. Detweiler has a turtle. We think classes would be excited if they had a class pet. Every class would be more fun with a pet.

Fifth Grade Point of View

By Aero Ferrendino

Tim Hines is a fifth grade in Mrs. Fanelli's fifth grade class. Timmy likes to go to the movies with his mom, dad or his cousins. Timmy's favorite movie is Star Wars. He goes to the Kingston Mall to watch movies, sometimes even at midnight. He thinks 3D movies are excellent because he likes to wear the glasses. He likes to go the Red Hook movies because they have great chairs.

Nick Stinemire, our president, is also in Mr. Reynolds class. He really wanted Hillary Clinton to win but she did not. Nick also won the Spelling Bee with Gracelyn VonAhnen. Nick is also a great football player. In the Mustang Bowl, he made a lot a great plays for the Patriots. He made two touchdowns! Nick says he would be honored to go to the White House to meet the President of the USA.

As student council president at Morse, he says he would make some changes at our school but he needs money and people to do it.

These are two wonderful fifth grade students at Morse.

Tim and Nick are enjoying fifth grade.

Holiday Traditions

By Jenna Welch

Some Morse students have holiday traditions which they share with family and friends.

Gabby

Fifth grader, Gabriella Cornell, from Mrs. Fanelli's class, went to her aunt's house for Thanksgiving. On Thanksgiving she eats turkey, stuffing, mashed potatoes, and cranberry sauce. She eats her Thanksgiving meal at 5:30!

For Christmas Gabby wants headphones, an iPhone, and a hover board case. Gabby wants 6 presents total. On Christmas morning, Gabby has to wait for her family to wake up. She doesn't like waiting. "I usually don't wait. I get up around 9."

Gabby loves the snow! She likes to make igloos! She likes the snow because it reminds her of Christmas! She likes to have cousins to play in the snow with her!

Lily

Lily Richards is another fifth grader in Mrs. Fanelli's class. She stays at her house for Thanksgiving. On Thanksgiving Lily eats stuffing, yams, and cranberry sauce. Lily eats dinner at 5:00 PM.

For Christmas, Lily wants an iPad, tablet, and school supplies. Lily wants about 100 presents. Lily has to wait for her family to wake up to open gifts. "I wake up at five and I have to wait until everyone wakes up." Sometimes she has to wait until 11 AM.

Lily does not like the snow because it is cold. Lily does not like to make or build igloos. Lily does not like to go out in the snow because it is outside of school. Lily does not like to go outside in the snow but she has siblings.

Madison Cazzetta, also a fifth grader, travel to Brooklyn for Thanksgiving. On Thanksgiving she eats turkey or ham. Maddy eats her meal at 5:00 to 6:00 PM.

Madison

For Christmas Maddy wants a cat, a painting set, and a hatchamale. Maddy wants 20,000 presents. Maddy has to wait for her family to wake up to open gifts, too. Maddy likes the snow! She likes making forts and igloos! Maddy likes going outside because she likes getting Hot Cocoa.

Maddy has 3 sisters Allie, Gabby, and Geah!

These are some of the holiday traditions students do here at Grant D. Morse!

President Trump

By Liam Turk

The Election of Donald Trump as president has caused some sixth graders to disagree. Gillian Mills, Logan griffin and Ashly Pitt. have different views about the president-elect.

They are kind of mad about Donald Trump winning but one is not. Gillian thinks Trump will be a good president. But Ashly and Logan don't like him and don't want him to be a president.

In a shocking election whereby a non-politician defeated the most famous political family in history, Donald Trump is going to try to lead the country in a new direction.

Two of them don't really know what he will do but Logan thinks he is going to change the laws.

Gillian is staying positive about President Trump's leadership.

Ashly thought he got picked to run for president because he is rich, Logan thought he got picked because a lot of people know him, Gillian said he had a lot of votes and a lot of people liked him.

Ashly said she hopes he makes ice cream cheaper. Gillian said she hopes she gives money to the army. Logan hopes he will make it so there is not so much war.

Ashly said half of her family hates him and half of her family loves him. Logan said his family hates him. Gillian said that her dad is excited that he won.

Two people said that Obama did really good as president and Logan said that he did amazing. Gillian said the presidential campaign was really good. Logan and Ashly said that they did not really care about it.

Logan and Gillian thought Hillary was going to win. And Ashly said Trump was going to win.

That is what people think about president elect Donald Trump.
